

IWA wants 20 per cent and COLA clause

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America will ask B.C. forest companies for a 20-per-cent wage increase and a benefit package that includes a cost-of-living clause, an accumulated time-off system and extra unemployment benefits.

Jack Munro, IWA regional president, told a news conference Saturday after a three-day contract conference that the proposals were reasonable and the outcome of negotiations would depend on the employers' response.

The union has asked for a wage increase of $2.50 an hour on the base rate of $9.96 in a one-year pact. The average IWA member makes about $11.50. It also wants a cost-of-living clause.

The accumulated time off system requested by the 50,000-member union calls for employees to be able to bank a half hour for each working day to be accumulated and taken as paid time off. This system would give workers about 16 extra days off each year.

Munro said the union also wants an occupational health and safety committee established funded by company payments of one cent an hour.

The union also wants additional unemployment benefits for workers who lose their jobs, particularly on a short term basis.

In all, the union had 31 proposals in what Munro called a people package.

Asked if the package will be difficult to obtain, Munro said: "That depends on the attitude of the employers. If our employers go into this negotiation with the same attitude as other employers are displaying in 1981, it's going to be a very very long, hot, dry summer. There's no doubt about it."

Munro said the contract could result in a strike if the demands aren't met. The contract expires June 14.

He said he supports Jim Kinnaird, B.C. Federation of Labor president, who has declared war on employers because of hard-line approaches being taken by several in current negotiations.

He had harsh words for management of U.S.-owned B.C. Tel, calling company chairman Gordon MacFarlane a "mouthpiece for computers in Orlando, Fla."

"I think that maybe we have an advantage because our employers are primarily based here and they can make the decisions."

He said the forest industry can expect to go into a high demand period in the next decade and although the end of 1980 and the beginning of 1981 have been "a little soft" the last five years have been good.

"We want some of what they've accumulated over this high, long real peak demand period," said Munro.

Two apartments were gutted on Evergreen in Terrace Friday when the Terrace fire department was called out at 9:15 a.m. Fire Chief

Cliff Best says the fire was started at the rear of building on the outside wall. Cause of the fire is undetermined as fire inspectors continue their investigation today. Joseph Gagnon lived in the upper apartment; Doug Clayton lived in the lower apartment.

Tel union denies stink bomb prank

A downtown hotel was the victim of a stink bomb attack Friday night, causing fire department officials here to initially assume that there was a natural gas leak sufficient to blow up the entire block.

Also hit Friday morning was the B.C. Telephone Company's Primary Centre; but members of the Telecommunications Workers Union, who have had picket action against the Lakelse Hotel because there are company employees living there, deny having anything to do with the incidences.

"We tend to think it was a foul-smelling scab," says TWU spokesman Ken Blanes.

Rod Verstrate, owner of the Lakelse Hotel, said that the stink bomb caused some people to leave but most people remained in the hotel.

"The fire department thought it was a dangerous natural gas leak, but they were the only ones who were really concerned," said Verstrate.

The stink bomb was placed in the air conditioning. Police say they are investigating and so far they have no suspects.

Shooting erupts

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A high school band drum major and two spectators were wounded when gunfire erupted at a crowded Mardi Gras parade honoring nine U.S. marines held hostage in Iran, authorities said.

The shooting Sunday occurred well after the floats carrying marine Sgt. John McKeel and eight other marines who had been held hostage in Iran for 444 days went by.

Two of the victims who were shot were in hospital in stable condition. The third person, who suffered flash burns, was treated and released, hospital officials said.

Police said no arrests have been made. "We're getting numerous conflicting stories about what happened," said Don Joly, chief spokesman for the police department. Investigators worked through the night, questioning most of the band's members and dozens of other witnesses. Charity hospital authorities identified the shooting victims as drum major Ray Johnson, 17, of St. Augustine High School in New Orleans and spectator John Barker, 20, of Plaquemine, a student at Nicholls State University.

The bullet went through Johnson's cheek and neck, and Barker was hit in the groin, they said.

Gary Francis, 25, of New Orleans, was treated for powder burns near his eye.

Exactly what prompted the shooting was clouded by the near-panic it caused among the throngs that stood five metres deep on each side of the broad boulevard of Canal Street, at the edge of the city's French Quarter.

Assistant band director Edward Allen said the shooting occurred during a scuffle that broke out when an armed young man refused to give way to a St. Augustine alumnus clearing crowds out of the band's path, said assistant band director Edward Allen.

The band is all black, and witnesses described the gunman as white, well-dressed, wearing a sports coat and a holstered gun at his hip.

Cargo ship search called off

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard has given up searching for 23 missing crew members from the burned-out South Korean cargo ship Daerim.

Just three of the crew were rescued, but one died. The other two were flown to an Alaskan hospital where they were reported in good condition.

The ship, listing to 60 degrees, was under tow by the Soviet salvage ship Predannyy today, its decks awash in six-metre seas. Coast guard officials said they didn't know where the cargo ship was being towed. The three rescued crew members were taken aboard by Soviet ships.

Twenty crew members of the 1,500-ton ship tried to flee the smoking vessel Saturday, officials said.

The fire began in a hatch late Friday and spread to the ship's fuel tanks by Saturday morning. It was extinguished by midday, but smoke continued to billow from the hull, the coast guard said.

The two crew members who survived were rescued by a Soviet ship before the others attempted to abandon ship. The survivors were taken from the Soviets by a coast guard helicopter and flown to a hospital in Kodiak. Coast guard spokesmen said it was unlikely there were any more survivors. Life expectancy in the frigid North Pacific is less than two hours and most people become unconscious after about 15 minutes, a spokesman said.

The Daerim is owned by Daerim Fisheries Co. and is registered in Pusan, South Korea. The company said the ship left Pusan earlier and was proceeding to the North Pacific to pick up fishing catches.

Students from La Prairie arrived at the Terrace airport Sunday after a 24 hour delay in their flight. They are part of a national exchange program and they will tour the Skeena region until March 7. Included on their tour are stops at the local mills and Industries from Prince Rupert, Kitimat, Terrace, and Smithers plus Ksan Indian Village in Hazelton and Hudson Bay Mountain for skiing in Smithers. Terrace students will visit Quebec in mid-April. They are hosts of the Quebec students this week.

ACCIDENTS KILL 30 IN CANADA

A mother and her two children killed in a car crash near Lac des Ecorces, Que., were among at least 30 people who died in accidents across Canada on the weekend.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday until late Sunday night local times showed 28 traffic fatalities, one fire death and one death in a plane crash.

Police said Therese Lamoureux, 53, of Guenette, Que., Goei Lamoureux, 11, and Roger Lamoureux, 15, died after their car collided with a passenger bus near Lac des Ecorces on Sunday.

The survey excludes slayings, industrial accidents and known suicides.

TORONTO (CP) — Accident or sickness victims who settle back and expect insurance companies to support them for the rest of their lives obviously don't know about rehabilitation units.

Rehabilitation units — teams of men and women who follow up on long-term disability claims with the object of getting the claimant back to work as quickly as possible — are cracking down.

Disability is a big business in Canada and rehabilitation counsellors are doing everything in their power to squelch it. Counsellors keep their eyes on the files for years, visiting claimants, doctors and employers to somehow get claimants back to work, if not full-time at their old job, then part-time or at another job.

The name of the game for rehab units is to make sure a claimant is doing everything in his power to once again act as a productive and non-claiming member of the community.

Figures for 1979 show that almost 3.8 million Canadians carried long-term disability insurance and $200 million in claims was paid, making business boom for rehabilitation units.

Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada alone, which covers 570,000 employees in 654 companies, is paying about $35 million a year in claims.

But as with most companies, Sun Life doesn't start mailing out cheques the minute someone feels a twinge in his back or an ache in his ear. Most insurance companies allow a six-month waiting period before the claimant qualifies for a payment. If by that time, the claimant hasn't returned to work and doctors confirm he is unable to continue his ordinary job, monthly payments begin.

Robert Taylor, head of Sun Life's rehabilitation unit, says payments under the most common disability policies provide 70 per cent of the claimant's wages at the time of his disability and continue until the person returns to work, reaches age 65 or dies.

Policies with escalator provisions are rare, says Taylor. For the first two years of disability, the claimant will be paid if he can't do his own job. Beyond that time, he will be paid only if he is unable to perform any work that reasonably suits him.

Counsellors fly into action the moment a disability claim is approved, looking at all angles of the claimant's disability, personality and lifestyle. But just as important is the claimant's attitude and Taylor says counsellors frequently set up appointments to make sure a claimant is trying his best to cope.

"We're not trying to catch him on the roof nailing shingles or anything like that ...," he says. "We want to find out what his attitudes are toward returning to work and how he views his situation."

Taylor also points out that it's only when people become disabled that they realize how liberal benefits can be. In such cases, it is important for the counsellor to act fast to make sure claimants don't lose the will to support themselves.

"Motivation is the big item; if a claimant doesn't have it, forget it."

Oil production cut

EDMONTON (CP) — Undeterred by defections among its supporters in the fight over the national energy program, Alberta reduced production of light and medium crude oil by about 104,000 barrels a day as of Sunday.

The cut amounts to 5.6 per cent of average Canadian oil consumption.

The federal government was expected to announce today how money will be raised to subsidize additional imports of foreign crude to make up for the missing Alberta oil.

Alberta Energy Minister Merv Leitch has said he expects the cut to average 60,000 barrels a day through the three months of March, April, May.

But if there is no national energy agreement by then, production will be cut again. A cabinet order sets maximum production of light and medium crude at 908,000 barrels a day starting March 1, 848,000 barrels a day starting June 1 and 788,000 barrels a day starting Sept. 1.

In an interview last week, Leitch reiterated his position that Alberta has no choice but to make the cuts.

He said reducing production is one of the few responses Alberta can make to a national energy program which Ottawa knew no oil-producing province "could conceivably accept."

As federal and Alberta leaders exchange accusations of intransigence, an exchange of information between their officials is winding up.

But the exchange will not likely end before mid-March and new negotiations are unlikely before then, Leitch said.

Meanwhile, support for the countermeasures Premier Peter Lougheed announced in a dramatic televised address last Oct. 30 has begun slipping.

The Canadian Institute of Public Real Estate Companies, representing such land development giants as Genstar and Marathon Realty, has called on Lougheed to compromise.

Ottawa should allow oil and natural gas prices to rise more quickly, the developers told the premier in a letter. But Alberta should be willing to take a smaller share of the greater revenue.

Rod Sykes, Alberta Social Credit leader, announced his party will not support a policy of production cuts without a greater provincial effort toward negotiation.

"Mr. Lougheed, in our view, betrayed us," Sykes said in an interview Sunday.

He said Social Credit, Alberta's official opposition party with four of the 79 legislative seats, supported the cuts, when Lougheed announced them as a means of putting pressure on Ottawa to resume talks.

But the premier had made it clear there would be no quick return to the table, and the cuts were really "for the purpose of hurting other Canadians, indeed punishing them."

Alberta Liberal Leader Nick Taylor, whose party does not have a seat in the legislature, said Lougheed is a danger to Confederation.

Taylor, a Calgary oilman, said Sunday that when Lougheed first announced the cut-back the premier claimed that Ottawa needed to recognize Alberta's right to control its resources.

"Surely now after more than two months when the federal government has not once questioned Alberta's right to cut back conventional oil or suspend oil sands development, the point that a province controls development within these boundaries has been accepted by Canadians."

"It is only the premier's wisdom and intentions that are now in question."

Taylor said it is becoming "increasingly clear that the premier wants to control oil prices and trade outside the province as well as within, a privilege that would break up Confederation."

In his televised address after the Oct. 28 federal budget was unveiled, Lougheed conceded that Ottawa has the constitutional power to impose prices.

But he said Alberta equally has the power to protect its income by refusing to sell oil at prices it deems inadequate.

Meanwhile, oil industry support for Lougheed's action has also been slipping.

Jack McLeod, chairman of the Canadian Petroleum Association, recently called on Ottawa to allow a faster increase of oil and gas prices.

FOUR TO SKI TO NORTH POLE

WARD HUNT ISLAND, N.W.T. (CP) — A four-man expedition landed on this tiny island near the northernmost point of Ellesmere Island on Sunday waiting for more favorable weather conditions to start skiing across the Arctic Ocean to the North Pole.

The expedition, led by Laurie Dexter, an Anglican priest from Arctic Bay, N.W.T., is attempting the first overland trip to the North Pole without air support or dog teams.

Lee Houchins, a member of the Explorers Club of New York, one of the sponsors of the expedition, said in a telephone interview that the group landed at Ward Hunt Island, 21 nautical miles west of Cape Columbia on Ellesmere Island, at 10:55 a.m. EST (2:55 p.m. GMT).

Houchins, a resource associate with the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, said Ward Hunt Island instead of Cape Columbia will be the new departure point for the expedition to "take advantage of the more favorable terrain."

The landing place, a frozen lake on north-central Ward Hunt Island, was recommended to Dexter by Captain Rocky Parsons, pilot of the Kenn Borek Air Ltd. chartered Twin-Otter which landed here.

Houchins, who is not a member of the expedition, said the temperature was 50 Celsius at the time of landing in a 15-knot breeze. Visibility near the surface was severely restricted due to blowing snow.

He said winds of up to 30 knots were expected in the next few days.

"We expect that Laurie Dexter and his mates of the Canadian North Pole Expedition will spend the next few days rearranging the gear on their sleds and waiting for more favorable weather before they set off on the ocean ice for the North Pole."

Houchins said the expedition left Resolute, N.W.T., on Saturday and had a stopover in Grise Fiord, an Inuit settlement on the southern coast of Ellesmere Island.

Dexter said in an interview before departure that the 752-kilometre journey, expected to take about two months if successful, was "one of the last great challenges left to us."

Dexter, a 35-year-old former physical education teacher, has lived among the Inuit for a decade and said he has picked up survival tips from his hunting trips with them.

Other members of the expedition are Peter Charkiw, a 28-year-old Edmonton high steel worker, Rob Kelly, 32, an elementary school teacher from Banff, Alta., and Bruce Ladebe, 25, an outdoors instructor from Titusville, Pa.

All members have experience in climbing and skiing. Each man will be hauling a sled with 135 kilograms of food and supplies, enough to last about 70 days.

Charkiw described the trip as "a heck of a lot more dangerous than climbing Mt. Everest."

Heavy fighting spurs request for mediation

SAN SALVADOR (AP) — Heavy fighting was reported at two towns in eastern El Salvador as the international socialist organization asked Nobel Peace Prize winner Willy Brandt to mediate between the guerrillas and the government.

Meanwhile, the United States suspended aid to Nicaragua for allegedly funneling Communist arms to the rebels.

Government soldiers and jet fighters repelled weekend attacks by leftist guerrillas on the towns of San Lorenzo and Santo Domingo, said peasants streaming into this capital city to escape the fighting in the eastern province of San Vicente.

Witnesses said "sporadic and heavy gunfire" continued Sunday around the two towns. A military spokesman said "an army clean-up operation" was under way.

"We have some wounded," said the spokesman, but refused to give casualty figures. There were no reports of rebel losses.

The leftist guerrillas who want to replace this Central American state's civilian-military junta with a Marxist government had been rumored for the last week to be planning a new offensive. But their leaders issued no communiques on the fighting in the eastern province.

A large-scale rebel drive in January, billed as a "final offensive" against the government, was quickly crushed by government forces.

An estimated 14,000 people have been killed in El Salvador's political strife since the October, 1979, coup that ousted president Carlos Humberto Romero's rightist regime and paved the way for the current U.S.-backed junta.

In Panama City, Panama, delegates to an emergency meeting of the Socialist International unanimously condemned the junta "as responsible for the violence which is bloodying the country," said a spokesman who briefed reporters on the closed-door meeting of the world's socialist parties.

He said the group called on Brandt, the former West German chancellor, to try to mediate between the Salvadoran leftists and the junta.

"We have selected Brandt for that mission because of his democratic political leadership and because he is the owner of a Nobel Peace Prize," said the spokesman.

HOW MUCH SHOULD THE PUBLIC PAY?

We know you are concerned about the B.C. Tel-TWU labour dispute.

We have heard your concerns.
But, let's look at some facts about wage cost comparisons in 1981.

A. B.C. Tel's Recent Offer

B.C. Tel total wage costs in 1979	$212 Million
B.C. Tel recent wage offer costs in 1981	254 Million
Increase in 1981 costs	$ 42 Million

These costs were contained in our recently approved rate decision.

B. Union Position as we understand it

B.C. Tel total wage costs in 1979	$212 Million
1981 Wage costs	266 Million
Increase in 1981 costs	$ 54 Million
Additional cost	$ 12 Million

B.C. Tel is attempting to act in the public interest by resisting these additional inflationary costs.

The Federal Government on the other hand, says accept the higher costs.

However, Federal Conciliation Commissioner Peck recognized the responsibility for cost in his report last September. To quote:

"In the final analysis, only the company can decide what it can afford, or not afford, and that will determine its bottom line in bargaining and requires no justification."

To accept these higher costs could mean financial instability and create a situation for our company similar to that faced by corporations such as Chrysler or Massey-Ferguson. In the end, these companies asked the government to bail them out. We do not intend to let that happen in B.C. Tel.

Is B.C. Tel's recent offer a fair one? You compare

Service Rep. (Group 5)	15,753	22,019
Telephone Operator	13,986	19,543

Acceptance of the offer which amounts to 39% over 3 years would make B.C. Tel union employees the highest paid telephone workers in Canada.

A further offer this week

While our recent offer is a good one, everyone is concerned about the effects of this prolonged dispute on our customers and the economy of B.C. In an attempt to reach an agreement to end this dispute the company has offered to go even further and meet the union halfway in 1981. If accepted, this would result in a new Collective Agreement and an immediate return to work.

Ann Landers: I'll bet every letter you read today, except this one, started out "Dear Ann Landers."

I dropped the word "dear" when writing letters many years ago, unless that person was really dear to me. You may be a good columnist, but you aren't dear to me and I am no hypocrite. So you will just have to settle for Ann Landers. No "dear" in front.

I am not a daily reader, but I do glance at your column in the San Diego Tribune every once in a while to see what some people consider problems. I am 72 years old and have never had to write to anybody for help. I have been able to figure out what to do all by myself.

I was born to poor but honest parents in 1908, finished high school at 16 and have been on my own ever since. Just call me — Self Made Man.

Dear Ann: Notion, there is a "dear" in front. This doesn't mean I am sure about you. It means I choose to honor a very old custom.

I'm glad you haven't had a problem you couldn't figure out all by yourself. And speaking of all by yourself, I'll bet you are kind way a lot. Now go sit in a quiet corner and see if you can figure THAT one out, Buster.

Dear Ann Landers: What do the biological parents think they are doing? When we, the adoptive parents, took their babies, we were not entering a long-term foster-care program. These parents relinquished all rights to their children so they could have better lives and grow up in a stable and loving family. Now they are seeking to destroy the very thing they once thought was so important.

I hope you will run this letter in every newspaper in the world. Ann. These people have got to stop breaking hearts for their own selfish reasons. — Ben Through It And My Family Will Never Be The Same.

Dear B.T.I.: You've said it all. I can't add a thing.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife has, for more years than I care to remember, averaged better than 12 beers a night. Then she takes a nightcap of whatever happens to be in the house, usually whiskey or rum.

It is my contention that the woman is an alcoholic. She insists that beer drinkers do not become alcoholics. We have agreed to let you be the judge.

We have a wager of $100 on the outcome. Your decision will be respected by both of us. If I win I will donate $25 to the charity of your choice and $25 to my favorite charity. I will keep $50 for moving expenses because my wife can't stand to be wrong, and I am sure she will tell me to get out. Which I probably should have done years ago. Please answer soon. I've had it in — Honolulu.

Dear Ann: Any person who drinks 12 beers a night and takes a bottle of "whatever" there is in the house" is a bona fide, for real, no-hesitation alcoholic.

Make out my $25 check to the Society for the Rehabilitation of the Faculty Disgraced, Inc. Send it to me. The doctors there make life livable by performing plastic surgery on people who need it desperately. Money cannot afford to pay. Why not send your $25 too? The address is 530 First Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Hanlon gets shutout

VANCOUVER (CP) — Glen Hanlon wasn't stumbling around in his crease for a change Sunday night and Vancouver Canucks responded accordingly.

Hanlon kicked out 28 shots in posting Vancouver's first shutout of the season when the Canucks blanked the disorganized and spiritless Hartford Whalers 3-0 in a slow-paced National Hockey League game.

"It's the first time I've felt good about playing in a long time," said Hanlon, who missed nearly four months of the season after suffering a knee injury in October.

"I could feel an improvement tonight because I wasn't stumbling all over the place like before. I felt confident for a change that I could make the big save. I was concentrating much better and my reflexes also were better."

Hanlon, 24, suffered a serious knee injury — the second of his brief NHL career — and there had been doubts about whether he would make a complete comeback. He entered Sunday's game with a goals-against average of 5.15 in 10 previous games this season.

"The win was a long time coming," he added. "I'm not even thinking about the next game — I'm just going to enjoy this one for a while."

Hanlon's return to form is timely, considering that netminder Richard Brodeur, who took over from Hanlon, is on the sidelines with a knee problem. Brodeur has played 46 games this season and is one of the prime reasons the Canucks have an improved record.

Bobby Schumatz scored two of the Vancouver goals, giving him 26 for the season, and Per-Olov Brasar got the other.

"We didn't play pretty hockey tonight, but it's the kind we've got to play for the rest of the season," said Schumatz, who also got into two scuffles with Hartford centre Don Nachbauer.

"We have to play much tighter at this stage of the season, with the playoffs coming up. We have to get the lead and then sit on it. I thought we did a pretty good job of that tonight."

The Canucks, with just two wins in their last 13 games, moved to within one point of 10th-place Chicago Black Hawks in the overall standings by firing 35 shots at Hartford netminder John Garrett.

Coach Larry Pleau, behind the Whaler bench for just the fourth game since taking over from Don Blackburn, used different line combinations nearly every shift and the Whalers were disorganized at best.

"We didn't seem to have much effort out there in the first period," Pleau said. "But we came back to work hard in the third period and that's what's important to me right now — the effort. I've been pushing them hard in practice for the last week and we looked tired tonight. We can still make the playoffs and I think the team is responding to my coaching."

The Whalers are 18th in the overall standings and just the first 16 teams advance to the Stanley Cup playoffs. Hartford is four points behind Washington Capitals, who occupy the last playoff berth.

Pleau admitted that Hartford defenceman Mark Howe still has not fully recovered from a painful abdominal injury which cost him 19 games. Howe still is eight to 10 pounds underweight, his coach said, and lacks the strength to be effective for an entire game.

The Canucks begin a four-game road trip Wednesday against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Three tied at top

HALIFAX (CP) — Northern Ontario, picked to win the 52nd edition of the Canadian men's curling championship, stuck to the script in the first two rounds Sunday.

However, Hal Hackner's Thunder Bay entry had company in the battle for first place, with Barry McPhee of Kamloops, B.C., and Kerry Burtynk of Winnipeg sharing the lead in the 12-rink round-robin tournament.

Hackner, beaten in the 1980 final by Saskatchewan's Rick Folk, who went on to win the world title, opened with a 7-1 triumph over Chuck Haines of Whitehorse, Y.T., then took an extra-end 7-6 decision over Peter MacDonald of Charlotte-town. The wins gave him a 2-0 record with British Columbia and Manitoba.

The Charlottetown foursome scored three in the 10th end to tie the score 6-6, but MacDonald was right on a draw with his last shot in the 11th and Hackner didn't have to throw his final stone.

Brian Ness of Howick, Que., and Mel Watchorn of Fairview, Alta., both had 1-0 records at the Metro Centre, while Toby McDonald of St. John's, Nfld., and P.E.I. were at 1-1.

At 0-1 were Alan Darragh of Dartmouth, N.S., and Saskatchewan, skipped this year by Bob Ellert of Assiniboia, Don Mix of the New South Wales from Moncton, and Werenich of Toronto and the Territories were 0-2.

Manitoba met New Brunswick and B.C. took on Newfoundland in games this morning. In afternoon play, Northern Ontario was scheduled to meet Alberta and Manitoba went against Quebec.

Nova Scotia 7-5 and Newfoundland defeated New Brunswick 6-5.

P.E.I. surprised Ontario 7-4 in first-round play, while B.C. scored single points in each of the eighth, ninth and 10th ends to down New Brunswick 7-4. Manitoba counted three in the ninth to defeat Newfoundland 9-4 and Quebec shaded Saskatchewan 4-3. Alberta and Nova Scotia got the bye in the first round and Saskatchewan and Quebec rested in the second.

BREWERS GET LEFTY SUN CITY, ARIZ. (AP) — Milwaukee Brewers, still searching for pitching help, acquired left-hander Randy Lerch from Philadelphia Phillies on Sunday in exchange for reserve outfielder Dick Davis. Lerch, 26, was 4-14 with the World Series champion Phillies last season, posting a 5.16 earned-run average. He appeared in 33 games, 22 of them as a starter.

Watchorn is making his third appearance in the national championship with the same rink — brothers Terry (second) and Merv (lead) and third Jim Fox. Darragh gave him a tough battle and held a 5-4 lead after eight ends. However, the Nova Scotia rink missed some key shots in the ninth end and Watchorn counted three for a 7-5 margin and the victory.

NOBODY CAME, SO GAME OFF

VANCOUVER (CP) — for Isle of Man Productions tonight's charity basketball game between the Oakland Raiders of the National Football League and the B.C. Lions of the Canadian Football League has been cancelled because of lack of interest and slow ticket sales.

Games scheduled for Sunday in Calgary, Vancouver and Winnipeg have also been cancelled, said Bruce Paisley, spokesman for the game. More than 7,000 fans turned out to see the Raiders play in Edmonton Thursday, but only 1,500 turned out Sunday in Calgary. Vancouver ticket sales were lower than the Calgary sales, Paisley said.

TONY ESPOSITO...an accomplishment

Foster has good night

By The Canadian Press
Dwight Foster, a hard-luck hockey player for much of his National Hockey League career, had one of his good nights Sunday, scoring three goals to help Boston Bruins beat Buffalo Sabres 6-4.

Foster, 23, led the Ontario Hockey Association junior scoring race with 143 points in his last amateur season at Kitchener, Ont., before the Bruins made him their No. 1 draft choice in 1977.

Since then, Foster has developed slowly, often plagued by injuries, but Sunday night he was flying with his three goals that tied the score 3-3 after the Sabres took an early lead.

In other NHL action Sunday, goalie Glen Hanlon recorded Vancouver's first shutout of the season in a 3-0 win over Hartford Whalers.

when he circled the net with the puck and jammed home his 20th goal of the season midway in the second period.

Canadiens 4 Rangers 4
New York's Mike Allison, standing with his back to the Montreal net, slapshot past Ron Greshiner slapshot past Montreal goalie Dennis Herron to give the Rangers the tie.

Montreal extended its unbeaten streak to 13 games. The Canadiens, who went through the entire month of February without a loss, are 9-4 since losing in Los Angeles, Jan. 31.

Pierre Mondou scored two goals and Mark Napier had a goal and two assists to give Montreal a 4-3 lead before Allison's goal with 1:50 to play.

Bruins 6 Sabres 4

Foster's three goals gave him a personal best season total of 16, but the Bruins needed to mount another rally after Tony McKegney scored early in the third period to put Buffalo back on top 4-3. Terry O'Reilly converted his own rebound to make it 4-4 and Rick Middleton, with his 36th goal of the season, put Boston in front to stay. Wayne Cashman completed the scoring.

Red Wings 4 Jets 4
Detroit let a 3-1 lead slip away and had to fight back to gain the tie on Mike Foligno's goal with five minutes left in the game. While the Red Wings, still hoping for a playoff berth, were disappointed in the outcome, the Jets were happy to salvage one point.

Bleues 4 Hawks 4
Chicago was just as happy after gaining the tie with St. Louis.

"It's an accomplishment, there's nothing to hang our heads about," said Hawks goalie Tony Esposito. "We played together and came back several times to earn it. Centre Tom Lyniak scored the tying goal for Chicago

Hawks earn tie

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — The Japanese National "B" hockey team was outshot 43-28 Sunday night on the way to a 7-1 defeat at the hands of the Prince Rupert Silver Grizzlies Kings.

Saturday night in Kitimat, the Winter Hawks played to a 3-3 tie with the Japanese.

The Japanese Nats, who have won three, lost five and tied one on their Western tour, are scheduled to play the Burnaby Lakers in Vancouver Tuesday.

30-0 VICTORY A SAD EXPERIENCE

JACA, Spain (CP) — Despite a concerted effort not to score goals, Canada humiliated South Korea 31-0 Sunday night in hockey action at the World University Winter Games.

Canada, represented by the University of Alberta Golden Bears and five roster additions, scored 16 times in the first period en route to its third straight victory. Earlier in the week, the team defeated Spain 9-0 and Japan 7-3.

Canada and Finland are both undefeated after three games and meet tonight in the final game of the five-team, round-robin tournament. The winner will receive the gold medal and the loser the silver.

"It was a sad, sad experience," said Chris Neiland, who scored twice for Canada. "We tried not to score."

"The coach (Clare Drake) told us not to take snapshots after the first period. We didn't throw a bodycheck the whole game. We were told not to score unless it was a picture-perfect play."

Drake, one of three coaches with the 1980 Canadian Olympic team, said it "felt a little funny." "We didn't want to run up the score, but at the same time I was worried that if we got into all kinds of bad habits we might find them hard to break tomorrow (Monday)," he added.

South Korea completed play with just six goals for and 79 against in four games.

Jim Lomas scored four goals and assisted on three others, while Jim McLaughlin of University of British Columbia, had three goals and four assists Sunday. Ace Brimacombe, Joel Elliott and Billy Holowaty also scored three goals apiece.

Only three Canadian players failed to score goals and goaltender Terry Clark was the only player held pointless. Ron Patterson of UBC took over in goal for the final period and picked up an assist. In Sunday's earlier game, Finland beat Japan 4-1.

ALL ABOUT PEOPLE

It wasn't Roll Over Beethoven, but Wake Up George Fredrik Handel, when Britain's instrumental rock band Sky earlier this week became the first contemporary music group to play in Logdon's Westminster Abbey.

Right over the crypt where Handel's bones are buried, Sky opened its concert by playing the composer's Sarabande in a way he probably never imagined: with wild, brilliant guitars, puffs of white smoke and a light show.

The 90-minute concert was held to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the founding in Britain of Amnesty International, the human rights organization that won the Nobel Peace prize for its efforts on behalf of "the prisoners of conscience" throughout the world.

The abbey opened its hallowed halls to the concert because of its concern for Amnesty's causes.

Prince Charles says he's thrilled and gratified by the emotional lift his engagement to Lady Diana Spencer, 19, has given Britons suffering through the worst recession in decades.

"I have been fascinated and so touched by how happy it has made other people in the midst of what at the moment is not a particularly encouraging outlook," the prince, 32, said at a luncheon Thursday in Glasgow.

Noting that the stock market has risen seven points since the engagement was announced Tuesday, Charles said: "That is what you call getting value for your money."

Meanwhile, a few less-savory elements have also tried to reap benefits from the Royal engagement announcement and impending wedding.

Lady Diana's mother, Frances Shand Kydd, returned to Britain Thursday from a trip to Australia to find that her home on a 1,000-acre estate in Scotland had been broken into.

"The police are still checking, but I am told the people who broke in were looking for photographs," Kydd said.

Tuesday night a porter at Lady Diana's apartment house told police he was attacked by two men demanding keys to her flat.

He said he chased them away.

Meanwhile again, Charles has bought himself an engagement present, a 12-year-old gelding named Good Prospect to replace the horse Alibair, which collapsed and died last week.

He plans to ride the horse, a potential Grand National starter, in the Grand Military Gold Cup on March 13. Good Prospect already has won 22 steeplechases.

The prince hasn't said what he paid for it.

Country singer Dolly Parton has cancelled the final week of her first Las Vegas hotel engagement after coming down with a severe sore throat.

"She's got a very bad throat and her doctor ordered her to bed for complete rest for 10 days," Teal Zoppi, publicity director of the Riviera Hotel, said Wednesday. "We're disappointed, of course, but we understand. She gave it her best shot."

Parton, whose engagement was to have ended Wednesday, was being paid a reported record Las Vegas salary of $350,000 a week under a three-year contract calling for her to appear 18 weeks at the Strip resort.

Musician Don Henley of the Eagles rock group has been fined $2,500 and placed on two years probation after pleading no contest to a charge of giving drugs to a 16-year-old girl found nude in his home last fall.

Superior Court Judge Edward Rafeedie sentenced Henley this week on the misdemeanor charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The judge also approved Henley's request to enter a two-year drug education program which, if completed successfully, would lead to the dismissal of three drug possession charges also stemming from his arrest Nov. 21.

Henley, 33, was arrested after he summoned fire department paramedics to his California home to treat the girl, who he reported had suffered a seizure. The girl told paramedics she had taken cocaine and Quaaludes and a subsequent search of the house uncovered 29 grams of cocaine, five ounces of marijuana and 16 Quaaludes.

Three athletes had something in common

EDMONTON (CP) — Angella Taylor is a young woman from Jamaica who wants to be the best sprinter in the world. Desai Williams from St. Kitts prefers football to track. Edmonton's Diane Jones-Konihowski is, as she herself puts it, a "mouldy oldie."

But all three had something in common at the Canadian indoor track and field championships Saturday and Sunday. They came up with Canadian indoor best performances in their specialties.

Taylor, who trains for up to 18 hours a week in pursuit of running excellence, won the women's 50 metres Saturday in 6.19 seconds, clipping .02 seconds off the previous Canadian indoor best she set a year ago.

She earned a share of another Canadian indoor best Sunday when she joined Alexis Paul McDonald and Molly Killingbeck, teammates from Scarborough Optimists Sports Association in Toronto, and Grace Verbeek of Hamilton to win the women's 4x400 relay in three minutes, 41.37 seconds. An Ontario team had set the previous relay best of 3:42.9 five years ago.

"I really don't like track that much," said Williams after winning the men's 50 metres in a Canadian best 5.75 seconds, slicing .07 seconds off the previous best time he had turned in a week earlier at the Edmonton Journal Indoor Games.

The 21-year-old said he was thinking about turning out for high school football in his adopted country but chose track instead because a friend told him "I'd get a lot of things free from Adidas and travel a lot."

He won the 50 metres in a photo-finish with fellow Scarborough Optimists Ben Johnson and Tony Sharpe, who were both timed in 5.77 seconds.

For a few hours Sunday it was thought that Pat Fogerty, who said he loves track "but I haven't been too serious about it lately," had turned in a Canadian best in winning the men's 50-metre hurdles in 6.72 seconds.

That was .04 seconds better than the listed previous Canadian indoor best Fogerty had set two years ago. But a check by officials showed that Mark McCoy of Scarborough Optimists had covered the distance in 6.70 seconds at the Journal Games.

Jones-Konihowski, who is approaching 30 and has been a major force on the Canadian track scene for years, was an easy winner in the women's pentathlon. She won four of the five disciplines that make up the event and finished with a Canadian best 4,524 points — 47 more than she had compiled in a meet in Idaho a week ago.

But what was shaping up to be a spectacular weekend for Jones-Konihowski was washed out by an injury as she attempted a personal best height of 1.87 metres in the high jump Sunday. She finished second in the high jump and cancelled out of the hurdles where she had the second-fastest qualifying time and had to settle for gold medals in the pentathlon and shot.

Geri Fitch of East York Track Club in Toronto won the women's 1,500 metres in 4:26.76 and the 3,000 metres in 9:37.85.

Bean is on beam at Arnie's place

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Andy Bean had only one disturbing thought after scoring a seven-shot victory in the Bay Hill Golf Classic.

"I talked to Arnold (Palmer, owner and operator of the host Bay Hill Club) early in the week and we agreed that the course was tough enough that something like 10 under would win," Bean said Sunday. The big guy offered a mischievous smile and added:

"I'm afraid I might have made Arnold mad at me." Combining his physical strength with a deft and delicate short game, Bean ripped Arnold's course and humbled the opposition with an 18-underpar performance on a winning score of 266.

"What can you say, when you've played better than you thought anybody was going to?" Bean asked.

Bean, 6-foot-4 and 210 pounds, made it look easy. He started the final round with a three-shot lead over Tom Watson, the only man in the field with any realistic hopes of overtaking him.

And it took Bean only three holes to put away the struggling Watson. Bean reached the parfive first in two and two-putted for birdie. He birdied the second from point-blank range and Watson, playing with him, bogeyed it after missing the green. Watson left one in a bunker on the third and bogeyed again.

Bean suddenly had a seven-shot lead.

Scorer gives credit to Wrangler linemate

Sheldon Currie scored four goals to lead Billings Bighorns to a 7-5 Western Hockey League victory over the visiting Calgary Wranglers Sunday.

But Currie gave linemate Marc Chartier all the credit. "Chartier made me look good all night. He works the corners great and I sit out front. It's easy to put the puck into the net when there's no pressure..."

Chartier chalked up two goals against the Wranglers, who twice overcame two-goal deficits only to be foiled by subsequent goals by Currie.

In other games Sunday, Lethbridge Broncos edged Winnipeg Warriors 2-1, Brandon Wheat Kings defeated Saskatoon Blades 7-5, Spokane Flyers beat Seattle Breakers 7-2 and Victoria Cougars overwhelmed New Westminster Bruins in a game played in Powell River, B.C.

In the Montana game, Currie opened the scoring at 7:11 of the first period when a shot bounced off the Calgary goalpost onto his stick and into the net.

Bill Langen scored just over three minutes later, blasting the puck into the Calgary net from the left circle.

Calgary battled back on goals by Dan Bourbonnais and Brian Tutt, before Currie and Chartier scored in the second period to regain the two-goal lead.

Calgary again tied the game when Don Keller got an unassisted goal at 14:06 of the second and Bourbonnais poked in a loose puck from the crease a little over a minute later.

However Currie's third goal at 4:43 of the third period gave Billings the lead for good. Chartier got the insurance goal at 11:40 and Currie sealed the game with his empty-net marker with three seconds to play.

Greg Chubliak scored for the Wranglers in the third period.

Billings took nine of 16 minor penalties and the clubs split eight majors. Billings outshot Calgary 40-30.

In Lethbridge, Doug Rigler's goal midway through the second period proved to be the winner.

Rick Gal rounded out the scoring for the Broncos with a first-period marker. Ron Mollard ruined Broncos goaltender Mark Frank's shutout bid by scoring with 25 seconds left in the second period.

Frank made 25 saves in net for Lethbridge while Winnipeg's Mike Schamber stopped 32 drives.

The Broncos took seven of 13 minor penalties and the teams split four fighting majors.

In Saskatoon, the Blades couldn't hang on to a three-goal lead and allowed Brandon a come-from-behind victory.

Chris Blight, Garry Slezak, Kelly Glow, Syd Cranston, Dave Chartier, Tom McMurphy and Carl Mokosak shared the attack for the Wheat Kings.

Pat Rabbitt and Bruce Eakin each scored twice for the Blades, with Brent Marinos adding a single.

Saskatoon was assessed 10 of 18 minor penalties and each team had a major.
